BOOMING KANSAS.

The Spring Emigration Opening Up well.

The Newton Republican says of the spring immigration.

The spring immigration is commencing in earnest. The depot is crowded every day with travelers bound westward. The Santa Fe yesterday sent five emigrant coaches to California, and hundreds of tickets are being sold for points in Western Kansas. The advertising which has been carried on so extensively all over the state during the past winter is having its effect, and according to the reports of the ticket agents, the boast of booming Kansas, that she will add 100,000 people to her population during 1887, will be realized.

WHO ARE COMING.

The Immigration Scarcely Begun.

The Barton county Register says of the immigrants:

It is said the immigration to Kansas has scarcely begun. Yet every train is crowded to its utmost capacity for the west that leaves Kansas City. over the Santa Fe, many not being able to get a seat for hours. Talk with them and ask where they are from and you will find they are mostly from the east and home-seekers, who will, when they settle, use every dollar of their means and every bit of their energy building up the town or county in which they locate. A glance at these people will reveal that they are of a class that are needed in developing a country. Education, refinement, get up and get combined, is what makes the prairie blossom as the rose. It was that class of men and women that first settled and opened up the state of Kansas and especially this part of Kansas. It is that class we need now and it is that class of people who are coming among us by the score. Why? Because Barton county contains as much if not more good land to the square mile than any other county in the state, and can be had at reasonable rates without enduring the hardships and privations found in the newer and less settled counties.

A TIMELY HINT.

A rural exchange gives a spring warning: Gardening seems to be quite popular here this spring. Many are digging up their yards and preparing to seed for "garden sass." That's right. Not a dollar should be paid for vegetables imported next summer. This country can raise enough to supply the state and should do it.

PUT OUT TREES.

The spring injunction from the rural exchange:

Nothing will add to the appearance of your surroundings as much as a fine grove of trees. It affords shelter for your stock, it breaks the high winds, adds comfort to your home, and above all wealth to your place. We advise all who can to plant trees, and do so at once.

DOWN GOES THE PRICES ON NURSERY STOCK.

I will have a car load of shade trees in my yard for the spring trade. I intend to make prices so that every body can have shade that wants to.

I will sell you:

TAKES THE CAKE.

Western Kansas in the Lead.

The Western Advocate says: Western Kansas deserves the honor of maintaining the credit of our state on the crop question this year. All reports go to show that the crops in the eastern half of the state were more seriously affected by the dry, hot weather, than the western half and fell far below the average, while the western part of the state, though considerably affected by the drought, brought up the average for Kansas, which compares favorably with the reports from other states. No wonder Western Kansas is becoming the asylum of immigrants in search of desirable homes.

ABOUT WHEAT.

The Cimarron New West says: O. T. Tripp, who lives 12 miles south of this place, informed us yesterday that he has 20 acres of wheat that looks a good deal better than his crop did this time last year. Mr. Tripp furnished some of the finest samples exhibited at the Ford County Fair last fall.
